

Mills & R. H. H.

New Suits Stylish and Handsome

$13.50 $14.50

New things are coming in to this department by every express.

Each day sees some novelty in a Suit, Coat, Waist or other ready-made garments for women.

The daily store news can only hint at these things.

To-day, for instance, we speak of two especially good values in new Suits:

OVERBLAD HOMESPUN, in lavender and tan shades. Blouse with inverted plaits stitched over the shoulders; three-quarter sleeves; coat satin lined, collar trimmed with tulle, silk, soutache braid and buttons; front of the coat trimmed with fancy silk. The skirt has four inverted plaits, stitched; sizes 34 to 38. Price $13.50

Medium Gray BROADCLOTH SUITS; 20-inch coats, box front, tight back, full sleeve, stitched inverted plait over shoulders; coat satin lined. Skirt gored with inverted plaits in front; sizes 32 to 44. A Suit especially adapted for large figures. Price $14.50

CARNEGIE MAY BE THEIR GUEST

Millionaire Philanthropist Cordially Invited to University of Virginia on April 13th.

WILL GO TO HOT SPRINGS

Likely That Prof. J. M. Page and Mr. Armistead C. Gordon Will Personally Press Invitation.

Word comes from Charlottesville that Andrew Carnegie, benefactor of the University of Virginia and rector of the University of St. Andrews, Scotland, has been invited by the president and Board of Visitors of the former institution to attend the ceremonies at the University of Virginia on Thomas Jefferson's birthday, known as "Founders' Day," April 13th.

It is not yet known whether or not Mr. Carnegie will be able to do so, but the occasion will be made memorable by the reception which will be accorded him.

Mr. Carnegie has already shown his interest in the University of Virginia by a gift of half a million dollars, and has more than once expressed a desire to visit the institution founded by the father of Democracy.

Urging Him to Come.

Dr. James M. Page, acting president in the absence of President Alderman in the West, has written in behalf of the University authorities, urging Mr. Carnegie to be the guest of the institution on April 13th, and he has every hope that the invitation will be accepted. Mr. Carnegie is now at the Hot Springs, and it is thought that Dr. Page, on behalf of the faculty, and Hon. Armistead C. Gordon, representing the Board of Visitors, will go to the Hot Springs and personally invite the rector of St. Andrews to honor the University by a visit. Dr. Alderman will have returned by Founders' Day and will entertain the distinguished guest.

SPIGELS START HOTEL.

Richmond to Have Something New Under the Sun.

Richmond will become the patent of a new enterprise this morning, when the Enterprise Hotel, No. 1405 East Broad Street, opens its doors to the public. Spigel Brothers are behind this new undertaking, and they are exerting themselves to the utmost to make the hotel a success.

Kosher is a Hebrew word, meaning purity. All meats used at this hotel will be from cattle slaughtered according to the religious precepts of the Hebrews.

New furniture has been installed and the building has been repainted and cleaned and now presents an inviting appearance to the traveler's eye.

A. M. Spigel, of this city, has this to say of his new project:

"This city has long needed a kosher hotel, and we have fitted out this place for the benefit of those who prefer to stop over at a place where everything is kosher. We will have kosher attendants, cooks and all that pertains to a first-class hotel."

ST. JOSEPH'S DAY.

Feast Observed in All the Catholic Churches Yesterday.

The feast of St. Joseph was observed yesterday in all of the Catholic Churches of the city. Masses in the Cathedral were celebrated at 8 o'clock.

Exposition of the blessed sacrament commenced after a 6 o'clock mass and closed after a P. M. with benediction in the Cathedral at St. Joseph's Academy. The children of the academy had holiday, as the day, though not one of holy obligation, is one of great devotion in the church.

A large crowd filled St. Joseph's col-

A Sale in the Interest of Charity

The ladies of the Belle Harrison Circle will hold a sample sale at St. Thomas N. Rutherford's, 112 East George Street, March 21st, 22nd and 23rd, 10 o'clock A. M. to 6 P. M.

Samples of articles of food, clothing, cut goods and fancy work in great abundance, donated free by Richmond and foreign merchants.

For benefit of a charity patient at the Shelters Arms Hospital, who has no other means of support.

MADE LUNGE AT PRESS GALLERY

Massive Negress, From Ward Offers "Quarter" to Keep Name Out of Paper.

DOG SENT DOWN FOR 10 DAYS

Man Who Was Given Jail Sentence Asked That His Dog Go With Him.

Sarah Murray, a great, stout negress whose home is in the "Ward," percolated through the crowd in Police Court yesterday morning and faced the One John as the complainant in the charge of the Commonwealth against one Theophilus Mann, a negro, who it was alleged, had threatened to do things to the brain of Sarah.

Without looking in the direction of the man in the revolving chair, Sarah sidestepped to the press box and Ward-like inquired if the representatives of afternoon papers were present, on such a drizzling forenoon.

She was told that they were all there and her name was chronicled in the foremost rank of sinners.

"Den Ah doesn't desire dat mah name appears on de papers, en here's er quarter fer ter keep it out," spake Sarah from the Ward, wheeling on his sixteen-inch instep and turning towards Justice Crutchfield.

The bright, shining fourth of a dollar dangled on the plank upon which the paper men make notes of the happenings in the court of the first resort.

It was the exact price of two Martinis and it did look dazzling. For a second only there was a waver and then up shot the form of a man who pushes a pencil or hammers a typewriter for a livelihood.

"Judge, the woman would like her cognomen to remain incognito," said the man, pinning the "W" on the large, open book in front of the man who says and does things according to the eleven-volume of law and equity.

And Theophilus was discharged, Sarah told to take the twenty-three and four-hundred dog, pranced around as though in search of a ball of acquittal.

"It's ten days for you, Garner," ordered the One John.

"Take the canine 'long with me?"

"Ask the sergeant."

"I feel lost without the innocent dog."

"Order the beast locked up for ten days, also," finished the court, and back to the cage went man and beast, if the little black canine could be properly called a beast.

John Lee, the negro who was disordered in St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Sunday night, was ordered to pay $30. He happened not to have the price and in consequence thereof will remain in the Hotel de Junk for a period bordering on three months.

It wasn't proven that Lella Smith swiped two blankets from Hendon's Mayor.

"She tuk 'em dis last gone August er year ago," said Hendon, "en when Ah goes ter her house to pay er social Ah sees dem blankets on de bed," finished the woman.

"Ah gits dem kivers 'um de pawnshop on Main Street en Ah didn't stole nothin'," put in Lella.

"Skiddoo," said the One John, falling

do.

Wanted to Keep His Dog.

Then came D. R. Garner, a white man, with a dog, D. R. said that he had been drunk. In fact he couldn't well deny the accusation, for one of his optics looked like a fried beefsteak. The other lamp didn't look any too good and the dog pranced around as though in search of a ball of acquittal.

"It's ten days for you, Garner," ordered the One John.

"Take the canine 'long with me?"

"Ask the sergeant."

"I feel lost without the innocent dog."

Order the beast locked up for ten days, also," finished the court, and back to the cage went man and beast, if the little black canine could be properly called a beast.

John Lee, the negro who was disordered in St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Sunday night, was ordered to pay $30. He happened not to have the price and in consequence thereof will remain in the Hotel de Junk for a period bordering on three months.

It wasn't proven that Lella Smith swiped two blankets from Hendon's Mayor.

"She tuk 'em dis last gone August er year ago," said Hendon, "en when Ah goes ter her house to pay er social Ah sees dem blankets on de bed," finished the woman.

"Ah gits dem kivers 'um de pawnshop on Main Street en Ah didn't stole nothin'," put in Lella.

"Skiddoo," said the One John, falling

do.

Wanted to Keep His Dog.

Then came D. R. Garner, a white man, with a dog, D. R. said that he had been drunk. In fact he couldn't well deny the accusation, for one of his optics looked like a fried beefsteak. The other lamp didn't look any too good and the dog pranced around as though in search of a ball of acquittal.

"It's ten days for you, Garner," ordered the One John.

"Take the canine 'long with me?"

"Ask the sergeant."

"I feel lost without the innocent dog."

Order the beast locked up for ten days, also," finished the court, and back to the cage went man and beast, if the little black canine could be properly called a beast.

John Lee, the negro who was disordered in St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Sunday night, was ordered to pay $30. He happened not to have the price and in consequence thereof will remain in the Hotel de Junk for a period bordering on three months.

It wasn't proven that Lella Smith swiped two blankets from Hendon's Mayor.

"She tuk 'em dis last gone August er year ago," said Hendon, "en when Ah goes ter her house to pay er social Ah sees dem blankets on de bed," finished the woman.

"Ah gits dem kivers 'um de pawnshop on Main Street en Ah didn't stole nothin'," put in Lella.

"Skiddoo," said the One John, falling

do.

Wanted to Keep His Dog.

Then came D. R. Garner, a white man, with a dog, D. R. said that he had been drunk. In fact he couldn't well deny the accusation, for one of his optics looked like a fried beefsteak. The other lamp didn't look any too good and the dog pranced around as though in search of a ball of acquittal.

"It's ten days for you, Garner," ordered the One John.

"Take the canine 'long with me?"

"Ask the sergeant."

"I feel lost without the innocent dog."

Order the beast locked up for ten days, also," finished the court, and back to the cage went man and beast, if the little black canine could be properly called a beast.

John Lee, the negro who was disordered in St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Sunday night, was ordered to pay $30. He happened not to have the price and in consequence thereof will remain in the Hotel de Junk for a period bordering on three months.

It wasn't proven that Lella Smith swiped two blankets from Hendon's Mayor.

"She tuk 'em dis last gone August er year ago," said Hendon, "en when Ah goes ter her house to pay er social Ah sees dem blankets on de bed," finished the woman.

"Ah gits dem kivers 'um de pawnshop on Main Street en Ah didn't stole nothin'," put in Lella.

"Skiddoo," said the One John, falling

do.

Wanted to Keep His Dog.

Then came D. R. Garner, a white man, with a dog, D. R. said that he had been drunk. In fact he couldn't well deny the accusation, for one of his optics looked like a fried beefsteak. The other lamp didn't look any too good and the dog pranced around as though in search of a ball of acquittal.

"It's ten days for you, Garner," ordered the One John.

"Take the canine 'long with me?"

"Ask the sergeant."

"I feel lost without the innocent dog."

Order the beast locked up for ten days, also," finished the court, and back to the cage went man and beast, if the little black canine could be properly called a beast.

John Lee, the negro who was disordered in St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Sunday night, was ordered to pay $30. He happened not to have the price and in consequence thereof will remain in the Hotel de Junk for a period bordering on three months.

It wasn't proven that Lella Smith swiped two blankets from Hendon's Mayor.

"She tuk 'em dis last gone August er year ago," said Hendon, "en when Ah goes ter her house to pay er social Ah sees dem blankets on de bed," finished the woman.

"Ah gits dem kivers 'um de pawnshop on Main Street en Ah didn't stole nothin'," put in Lella.

"Skiddoo," said the One John, falling

do.

Wanted to Keep His Dog.

Then came D. R. Garner, a white man, with a dog, D. R. said that he had been drunk. In fact he couldn't well deny the accusation, for one of his optics looked like a fried beefsteak. The other lamp didn't look any too good and the dog pranced around as though in search of a ball of acquittal.

Unexpected Company

Massive Negress, From Ward Offers "Quarter" to Keep Name Out of Paper.

DOG SENT DOWN FOR 10 DAYS

Man Who Was Given Jail Sentence Asked That His Dog Go With Him.

Sarah Murray, a great, stout negress whose home is in the "Ward," percolated through the crowd in Police Court yesterday morning and faced the One John as the complainant in the charge of the Commonwealth against one Theophilus Mann, a negro, who it was alleged, had threatened to do things to the brain of Sarah.

Without looking in the direction of the man in the revolving chair, Sarah sidestepped to the press box and Ward-like inquired if the representatives of afternoon papers were present, on such a drizzling forenoon.

She was told that they were all there and her name was chronicled in the foremost rank of sinners.

"Den Ah doesn't desire dat mah name appears on de papers, en here's er quarter fer ter keep it out," spake Sarah from the Ward, wheeling on his sixteen-inch instep and turning towards Justice Crutchfield.

The bright, shining fourth of a dollar dangled on the plank upon which the paper men make notes of the happenings in the court of the first resort.

It was the exact price of two Martinis and it did look dazzling. For a second only there was a waver and then up shot the form of a man who pushes a pencil or hammers a typewriter for a livelihood.

"Judge, the woman would like her cognomen to remain incognito," said the man, pinning the "W" on the large, open book in front of the man who says and does things according to the eleven-volume of law and equity.

And Theophilus was discharged, Sarah told to take the twenty-three and four-hundred dog, pranced around as though in search of a ball of acquittal.

"It's ten days for you, Garner," ordered the One John.

"Take the canine 'long with me?"

"Ask the sergeant."

"I feel lost without the innocent dog."

Order the beast locked up for ten days, also," finished the court, and back to the cage went man and beast, if the little black canine could be properly called a beast.

John Lee, the negro who was disordered in St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Sunday night, was ordered to pay $30. He happened not to have the price and in consequence thereof will remain in the Hotel de Junk for a period bordering on three months.

It wasn't proven that Lella Smith swiped two blankets from Hendon's Mayor.

"She tuk 'em dis last gone August er year ago," said Hendon, "en when Ah goes ter her house to pay er social Ah sees dem blankets on de bed," finished the woman.

"Ah gits dem kivers 'um de pawnshop on Main Street en Ah didn't stole nothin'," put in Lella.

"Skiddoo," said the One John, falling

do.

Wanted to Keep His Dog.

Then came D. R. Garner, a white man, with a dog, D. R. said that he had been drunk. In fact he couldn't well deny the accusation, for one of his optics looked like a fried beefsteak. The other lamp didn't look any too good and the dog pranced around as though in search of a ball of acquittal.

"It's ten days for you, Garner," ordered the One John.

"Take the canine 'long with me?"

"Ask the sergeant."

"I feel lost without the innocent dog."

Order the beast locked up for ten days, also," finished the court, and back to the cage went man and beast, if the little black canine could be properly called a beast.

John Lee, the negro who was disordered in St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Sunday night, was ordered to pay $30. He happened not to have the price and in consequence thereof will remain in the Hotel de Junk for a period bordering on three months.

It wasn't proven that Lella Smith swiped two blankets from Hendon's Mayor.

"She tuk 'em dis last gone August er year ago," said Hendon, "en when Ah goes ter her house to pay er social Ah sees dem blankets on de bed," finished the woman.

"Ah gits dem kivers 'um de pawnshop on Main Street en Ah didn't stole nothin'," put in Lella.

"Skiddoo," said the One John, falling

do.

Wanted to Keep His Dog.

Then came D. R. Garner, a white man, with a dog, D. R. said that he had been drunk. In fact he couldn't well deny the accusation, for one of his optics looked like a fried beefsteak. The other lamp didn't look any too good and the dog pranced around as though in search of a ball of acquittal.

"It's ten days for you, Garner," ordered the One John.

"Take the canine 'long with me?"

"Ask the sergeant."

"I feel lost without the innocent dog."

Order the beast locked up for ten days, also," finished the court, and back to the cage went man and beast, if the little black canine could be properly called a beast.

John Lee, the negro who was disordered in St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Sunday night, was ordered to pay $30. He happened not to have the price and in consequence thereof will remain in the Hotel de Junk for a period bordering on three months.

It wasn't proven that Lella Smith swiped two blankets from Hendon's Mayor.

"She tuk 'em dis last gone August er year ago," said Hendon, "en when Ah goes ter her house to pay er social Ah sees dem blankets on de bed," finished the woman.

"Ah gits dem kivers 'um de pawnshop on Main Street en Ah didn't stole nothin'," put in Lella.

"Skiddoo," said the One John, falling

do.

Wanted to Keep His Dog.

Then came D. R. Garner, a white man, with a dog, D. R. said that he had been drunk. In fact he couldn't well deny the accusation, for one of his optics looked like a fried beefsteak. The other lamp didn't look any too good and the dog pranced around as though in search of a ball of acquittal.

"It's ten days for you, Garner," ordered the One John.

"Take the canine 'long with me?"

"Ask the sergeant."

"I feel lost without the innocent dog."

Order the beast locked up for ten days, also," finished the court, and back to the cage went man and beast, if the little black canine could be properly called a beast.

John Lee, the negro who was disordered in St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Sunday night, was ordered to pay $30. He happened not to have the price and in consequence thereof will remain in the Hotel de Junk for a period bordering on three months.

It wasn't proven that Lella Smith swiped two blankets from Hendon's Mayor.

"She tuk 'em dis last gone August er year ago," said Hendon, "en when Ah goes ter her house to pay er social Ah sees dem blankets on de bed," finished the woman.

"Ah gits dem kivers 'um de pawnshop on Main Street en Ah didn't stole nothin'," put in Lella.

"Skiddoo," said the One John, falling

do.

Wanted to Keep His Dog.

Then came D. R. Garner, a white man, with a dog, D. R. said that he had been drunk. In fact he couldn't well deny the accusation, for one of his optics looked like a fried beefsteak. The other lamp didn't look any too good and the dog pranced around as though in search of a ball of acquittal.

"It's ten days for you, Garner," ordered the One John.

"Take the canine 'long with me?"

"Ask the sergeant."

"I feel lost without the innocent dog."

Order the beast locked up for ten days, also," finished the court, and back to the cage went man and beast, if the little black canine could be properly called a beast.

John Lee, the negro who was disordered in St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Sunday night, was ordered to pay $30. He happened not to have the price and in consequence thereof will remain in the Hotel de Junk for a period bordering on three months.

It wasn't proven that Lella Smith swiped two blankets from Hendon's Mayor.

"She tuk 'em dis last gone August er year ago," said Hendon, "en when Ah goes ter her house to pay er social Ah sees dem blankets on de bed," finished the woman.

"Ah gits dem kivers 'um de pawnshop on Main Street en Ah didn't stole nothin'," put in Lella.

"Skiddoo," said the One John, falling

do.

Wanted to Keep His Dog.

Then came D. R. Garner, a white man, with a dog, D. R. said that he had been drunk. In fact he couldn't well deny the accusation, for one of his optics looked like a fried beefsteak. The other lamp didn't look any too good and the dog pranced around as though in search of a ball of acquittal.

NEWS GATHERED FROM SOUTHSIDE

Rev. Mr. Woodward Makes Answer to Public Letter of Rev. J. K. Jolliff.

FLATLY DENIES THE CHARGE

Has Not Tried to Proselyte, Says He—Holliday's Place Closed. Two Deaths.

Manchester Bureau, Times-Dispatch, No. 1102 Hull Street. No little interest, not to say subdued excitement, is setting Manchester all agog over the controversy arising among the Manchester ministers over the alleged proselyting of Rev. C. O. Woodward, pastor of Cowardin Avenue Christian Church, and the latter's manner of conducting men's meetings, which have been in progress, under the auspices of the Railroad Y. M. C. A., in Lender Hall every Sunday afternoon.

Rev. J. K. Jolliff is the first to uncouch his ministerial lance in a public statement, which was published in one of the afternoon papers of yesterday.

In short, Mr. Jolliff denies that any secret meeting had been held to which Mr. Woodward had not been invited, that it is untrue that he (Mr. Jolliff) and Mr. McSparran demanded that the meetings in Lender Hall should be discontinued and that the ministers of Manchester had engaged to conduct ten meetings during the summer months. It further transpires from the public letter that the two ministers in question went to Mr. Thomas, secretary of the Railroad Y. M. C. A., and entered protest concerning the "one-man" policy of conducting the